

LGBTQIA+ Inclusion in WA Schools Event

Join us for a networking event where we will share updates on our project focussing on the experiences and perceptions of WA teachers and professional staff.

Lead Researcher: Associate Professor Julian Chen

Co Researchers:

Dr Bri McKenzie (Curtin), Dr Cindy Smith (Curtin), Dr Jacqui Hendriks (Curtin), Dr Leanda Mason (Curtin, UWA), Associate Professor Wendy Cumming-Potvin, (Murdoch), Dr David Rhodes (ECU), and Kim Andreassen (Curtin) Curtin HREC: HRE2021-0661

Background

Formed through a shared interest in LGBTQIA+ inclusion in education, a multi-disciplinary research team working across four WA universities have undertaken a scoping survey and in-depth interviews with educators working in WA schools. To further develop the research, the team will apply for an ARC Linkage grant later in 2024, with the aim of identifying best-practice approaches to improve LGBTQIA+ inclusion within West Australian schools. At this event, we will share our initial findings and open conversations with potential industry partners who may share our commitment to inclusive education for all students.

Details

When: Wednesday March 6, 4.30 - 6.30pm
Where: Curtin University, Bentley, School of Education, Building 501, Level 3.
What: Come and enjoy a presentation on our findings and hear about the next steps in the project. Participate in networking with other industry partners to share best practices and discuss challenges.

Refreshments will be provided.

Stakeholders and Collaborators

Curtin University, Edith Cowan University, Murdoch University, University of Western Australia, Sexual Health Quarters

Register

